Leticia Mendiola
Front End Web Developer

Summary

I'm new to the world of web development. I chose the UTSA Bootcamp in order to obtain as much knowledge in full stack web development as possible, in which it's safe to say I've learned a lot and confidently say I have the tools for success. Throughout the course I have found out that I enjoy doing front end the most. The CSS & Javascript aspect of designing a website making them look attractive, professional, and functional is both what I am most skilled in and what I am most passionate about. I'm a fast learner and desire joining a company where I can bring my creative skills whilst continuing to gain skill and experience in the process. I am a hard and dedicated worker able to handle several priorities at once, as demonstrated in my past whilst working 2-4 jobs simultaneously and working through my education as well.

Education

January 2021 - July 2021
University of Texas at San Antonio – Certificate in Full Stack Web Development

August 2009 - May 2011
University of Texas at San Antonio – Bachelor of Science in Nursing

Technical Skills

Passionate and skilled in specifically Web and Graphic Design, with notable proficiency in:

- HTML
- CSS
- Javascript
- Web API's
- JQuery